If you were out and about in our churchyards over the last month or so and you thought you saw me on my knees, the chances are that I wasn't either diligently praying or experiencing profound desperation – although those things do often coincide in my experience. It was probably that I'd seen something interesting on the ground and wanted to have a closer look.

It's been very exciting this year especially to watch some bee orchids coming up in the churchyards. I took the picture you can see here the day before I sat down to write this. I find it extraordinary that here is a plant that has managed to make itself look like a bee so that a bee will come along and do what (birds and) bees do and carry off some pollen to the next one. It's an amazing thing. I've seen on Facebook, by the way, that some of you have got these lovely plants coming up in your front lawns as well, which is quite an advert for No Mow May, isn't it?

Whenever I see a properly spectacular flower like this, I'm reminded of Jesus's word to his listeners on the mountain: "Consider how the wild flowers grow," he says. When I read these words I like to imagine that Jesus is looking around at the beauty around him. "Consider how the wild flowers grow. They do not labour or spin. Yet I tell you, not even Solomon in all his splendour was dressed like one of these." It's true, isn't it? No matter how smartly turned out we are, none of us is going to look as amazing as a perfect wild flower. No ironing, no shoe polish, no make-up – just immaculately clothed by the Creator.

Jesus's reason for mentioning this, by the way, is not to get people so interested in the flowers around them that they stop listening to anything that he's got to say. His point is really that if God cares enough about a single flower to dress it that exquisitely, how much more will he provide for us, the crown of all that he has created?

There are so many reasons to worry at the moment. The war in Ukraine is still profoundly troubling, and here at home the cost of almost everything is going up and up and up. I've spoken to some people who are concerned that the autumn might bring an increase in Covid numbers again, and yesterday on the news the talk was of the possibility of a summer of strikes.

But don't worry, Jesus says. Not because we stick our heads in the sand like an ostrich. Nor running round shouting "Don't panic" like a sort of 21st century Corporal Jones. (Cultural references bang up to date there.) Instead, gently but firmly, "Don't worry", because we can be certain that Jesus is alive, that his kingdom is coming, and one day everything will be made new.

Attractive?

No you're not reading an advert for someone seeking a new relationship. I've just been wondering what makes us, humans, attractive. It came about because I was recently checking some minutes of a meeting that I attended and that had been circulated to all the attendees (including myself, LM) and I was a bit surprised when I read this:

LM posts that October contains a lot of new reps... How could LM be made more attractive to student reps? Could reps send ideas before September away day.

I've never considered myself attractive or unattractive but it did make me wonder what students see in me, what they are attracted to. Do they see me as an efficient administrator? Do they see me as someone they can turn to? Who offers them good advice? Do they see me for my position – and are attracted or repelled accordingly? Or do they see me for who I am? Someone who wants the best for them. Who cares about the people she lives and works with. Who is compassionate. Who is trying to be more attractive for who she is rather than just by what she does.

It says in the bible: He had no beauty or majesty to attract us to him, nothing in his appearance that we should desire him. (Isaiah 53:2) This verse is foretelling about Jesus. How Jesus would appear unattractive in his appearance. Certainly a man dying on a cross is not an attractive thing to see. But Jesus asked his disciples first, Who do you say I am? And Peter replied You are the Messiah (Luke 9:20). The crowds of people were attracted to him for what he did, the miracles he performed, the healings they saw and heard about which were pretty amazing and if we had been alive 2,000 years ago might have attracted us to him but he asks us to think about who he is. Not just his title, saviour, redeemer, Messiah but what he shows us. In his life he displays inner qualities in abundance to those around him, love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control. Am I displaying them? They are attractive qualities in anyone and can grow as we open ourselves more and more to God. I believe. By getting to know him as revealed in the bible. If you would struggle to do that on your own, because it's a bit daunting when you pick up a bible to know where to start, come and join us one Sunday morning or on Thursday 7 July in the Church Hall at 10 when we are starting our new monthly gathering followed by coffee.

Seventy Years of Faith and Service

The following are extracts taken from the booklet 'Our Faithful Queen', published by hopetogether.org.uk

A Personal Journey of Faith

Elizabeth II was not born to be Queen. Her father, the Duke of York, was the second son of King George V, so the young Elizabeth had little expectation of becoming the Sovereign.

She began 1936 as a 9-year-old who loved horses and dogs and was being prepared for life as a country gentlewoman. But by the end of the year she was next in line to the throne. Her uncle, Edward VIII, had abdicated and immediately her father had become King George VI. Even then, she might have expected to be middle-aged before becoming Queen, but her father was just 56 when he died. By her 27th birthday, the stage was set for this young wife and mother of two to be crowned. Her formal titles were 'Elizabeth the Second, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and of her other Realms and Territories Queen, Head of the Commonwealth, Defender of the Faith'.

Grace is the unearned favour of God. She did not take the 'Grace of God' for granted.

Called by God

The first words Archbishop Fisher gave the Queen to consider in the Devotions were a prayer from the Bible: 'Show me your ways, Lord, teach me your paths. Guide me in your truth and teach me, for you are God my Saviour, and my hope is in you all day long...' Then he added these words for her to say as she prepared herself for the Coronation:

The whole of life is a journey to God. In its course are many lesser journeys taken for many different purposes. Sometimes the Bible records special journeys undertaken for special purposes in answer to a call from God.. Such will be my journey to Westminster. It will be undertaken in obedience to a call from God. I have not chosen this office for myself: he has appointed me to it, and I go to be consecrated to it by him. My prayer must echo that of the Virgin Mary, and that of our Lord himself: 'Be it unto me according to thy will'; 'Not what I will, but what thou wilt'. And because he leads I may follow in complete trust.

By accepting her role, the Queen sacrificed her personal preferences and private life to adopt a life of duty and service in obedience to God's call, trusting him to lead her.

Dedicated to Serve

She knew it was not a role she could undertake alone. On her 21st birthday, Princess Elizabeth asked for her people's support and God's help:

I declare before you all that my whole life whether it be long or short shall be devoted to your service and the service of our great imperial family to which we all belong. But I shall not have strength to carry out this resolution alone unless you join in it with me, as I now invite you to do: I know that your support will be unfailingly given. God help me to make good my vow, and God bless all of you who are willing to share in it.

In her first Christmas broadcast as Queen in 1952, she re-emphasised her dedication:

At my Coronation next June, I shall dedicate myself anew to your service. I shall do so in the presence of a great congregation, drawn from every part of the Commonwealth and Empire, while millions outside Westminster Abbey will hear the promises and the prayers being offered up within its walls, and see much of the ancient ceremony in which kings and queens before me have taken part through century upon century.

And she asked for prayer:

Pray that God may give me wisdom and strength to carry out the solemn promises I shall be making, and that I may faithfully serve him and you, all the days of my life.

It is a prayer God has answered.

Jubilee Crown of flowers at Caistor St Edmund Church

Thank you so much to the mystery flower arranger who left this beautiful crown of flowers at Caistor St Edmund Church. It was a lovely surprise to find it there one day! It has been much appreciated by the people attending the jubilee celebration service as well as the many visitors to the church.

Caistor St Edmund Platinum Jubilee Street Party

The residents of Caistor St Edmund came together in Southwood Drive to celebrate the Queen's Platinum Jubilee. There were around 70 people there, all sharing lunch together and having a great time catching up with friends old and new. The music was really wonderful, the sausages were cooked to perfection and the quiz was good fun. Lots of people brought cakes to share - yummy! Nobody seemed to mind that it was a little on the chilly side. We finished in style with the national anthem.

It was a fantastic way to celebrate this special day together.

Thanks to everyone who helped to make it happen - members of the Parish Council, residents and members of Caistor St Edmund Church. Great teamwork!

Brickle Road Upper Stoke also had a wonderful celebration together.

Our Jubilee Celebration at Stoke church hall. We had a great time and extend our grateful thanks to all the volunteers from our group and people in the community who helped and supported us with the teas, cakes tombola and plants in the church hall on Saturday as we celebrated together the Queen's Platinum Jubilee. It was a good opportunity too for more people to become aware of our group and what we get up to.
